PUBLISHERS' NOTE.

THIS book has been published to provide those who may be thinking of building homes with a variety of plans and elevations, from which a selection may be made or a suggestion borrowed.

The old saw says that "the man who is his own lawyer has a fool for a client," and those who build houses without expert advice often pay dearly for the privilege. As all the designs contained herein have been drawn by an experienced Architect, they may be relied upon as thoroughly practical, and the approximate costs have been made up from present-day prices.

The modest week-end bungalow at £250 has been as thoughtfully planned as the comfortable suburban home at £1250, with intermediate prices to meet most requirements. But just as circumstances alter cases, so sites often alter costs, and, when consulting these plans, the position of the prospective residence must be taken into account, and due allowance made for extra foundations or difficult situations. Again, it is not to be expected that these approximate costs shall hold good when building conditions may be distinctly adverse to economical construction.

All these designs have been made subservient to local climatic conditions, and are intended to foster a style of architecture in keeping with the hygienic open-air life that obtains in Australia.

The Magazine essential to the successful Builder, Architect, Craftsman, Property Owner, and Merchant.

and other leading, Building, Architectural and Engineering authorities in Australasia.

74a PITT STREET,

SYDNEY, 4th May, 1912.

Dear Mr. Rowlandson,

Yes, your Bungalow Book should sell.

Home lovers who desire to "Own a Home of their Own" are many and your book should give them a vision of something they may like—but, here is the danger, if they endeavour to build without expert advice they will make a grave mistake.

My Magazine "BUILDING" has from its inception shown the proper way to go about "Owning a Home of your Own" and thousands of satisfied home lovers testify to the good advice it has given them that their home must be built with brains as well as with brick or stone.

The now National Gospel of "Own a Home of your Own" was first made public in my "BUILDING" Magazine and its circulation has consequently increased remarkably.

As you know, your own bookstalls sell a considerable number each month, because at its price, one shilling per month, or by post ten shillings per year, it has saved hundreds of pounds to "Prospective Home Builders."

No person should attempt to build without expert advice and in the current issues there are some valuable Hints to Home Builders in "PLAIN TALK WHEN YOU BUILD." It deals with the whole question from selecting the site to furnishing the finished home.

Yours truly,

George A. Taylor
Editor.

ROOFING THE BUNGALOWS

BUNGALOW WITH PABCO ROOF.

The famous Californian Bungalows were originated and practically made by MALTHOID roofs. They are now spreading all over the world. Nothing could be more suitable to the Australian climate. MALTHOID is made with the pure mineral which we have used for 28 years, and PABCO is our latest manufacture. The waterproofness of Pabco and Malthoid allows any roof design which may be desired, especially a flat slope.

PABCO IS ASBESTOS-COATED MALTHOID

and its non-conducting properties ensure a truly normal shade temperature. It enables you to have the flat slope or hip to your roof, which is so effective and so greatly admired in Bungalow Roofing, and which is not usually practicable with other materials.

MALTHOID is far superior to shingles, iron, slates or tiles for roofing. It may also be used for bathroom floors, saving 75% on the cost of lead.
